Investment Objective

Seek to maximize risk-adjusted total return by systematically pursuing relative value opportunities throughout all sectors of the fixed income market.

Investment Philosophy

Reams defines risk as permanent loss of principal or the inability to meet investment objectives. This is distinct from other investors who may define risk as volatility or tracking error versus a benchmark. Another differentiating feature is that Reams focuses on reacting to relative value opportunities and taking advantage of volatility, rather than relying on economic forecasting and predicting market movements. These guiding beliefs lead the team to:

- Focus on long-term value and total return;
- Employ both top-down macro and bottom-up strategies;
- React opportunistically to valuation discrepancies and volatility;
- Create diversified portfolios that seek to outperform over a full cycle; and
- Seek opportunities to add value in niche parts of the market overlooked by larger managers.

Fund Overview

- Invest tactically across all sectors of the fixed income market including investment-grade and high yield credit, governments, agencies, mortgage-backed, asset-backed, non-US dollar and emerging markets.
- Actively manage overall portfolio duration based on market conditions, normally within a range of -3 to 8 years.
- Maximum exposure to non-investment grade securities of 60%; maximum exposure to mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities of 60%; maximum exposure to emerging markets securities of 30%.
- May use derivative instruments such as futures, options and credit default swaps in order to gain exposure and manage risk.

[†] ICE BofA US 3-Month Treasury Bill Index is comprised of a single issue purchased at the beginning of the month and held for a full month. At the end of the month that issue is sold and rolled into a newly selected issue. The issue selected at each month-end rebalancing is the outstanding Treasury Bill that matures closest to, but not beyond, three months from the rebalancing date. To qualify for selection, an issue must have settled on or before the month-end rebalancing date.

This fund is not available for sale in the U.S. and nothing herein shall be construed as an offer to sell in the U.S. or to U.S. persons. It is the responsibility of any persons wishing to make a purchase to inform themselves of and observe all applicable laws and regulations.

Portfolio Characteristics and Fund composition will change due to the ongoing management of the Fund. References to specific securities should not be construed as recommendations by the Fund, its Financial Advisor or its Distributor.

Sector Allocation is based on total investments. "Other" sector category includes futures, options and certain other types of derivatives and are calculated using market value. Some portfolio derivatives may be included as part of different sectors based upon their underlying risk characteristics. The Investment-Grade Credit and High-Yield Credit sector categories may include credit default swaps, which are calculated using the notional exposure. "Net Cash & Equivalents" may include securities that have an expected maturity of less than 365 days. The final maturity of these securities may be longer.

Quality Ratings are assigned by credit rating agencies Standard & Poor's and Moody's as an indication of an issuer's creditworthiness. Ratings are measured on a scale that generally ranges from AAA (highest) to D (lowest). The highest credit quality rating available from these two rating agencies is used. Credit quality is subject to change.

Duration is a time measure of a bond's interest-rate sensitivity, based on the weighted average of the time periods over which a bond's cash flows accrue to the bondholder. Time periods are weighted by multiplying by the present value of its cash flow divided by the bond's price.

Average Maturity is computed by weighting the maturity of each security in the portfolio by the market value of the security, then averaging these weighted figures.

Market Review

Elevated levels of inflation persisted in many regions, despite increasingly restrictive monetary policy responses. In the U.S., the consumer price index (CPI) rose 8.2% year-over-year (September data reported in October), down slightly from a peak of 9.1% in June, but the 0.6% month-over-month increase in core CPI proved particularly worrisome. The September labor report (released in October) continued to reflect an extremely robust job market, with the U.S. unemployment rate actually declining month-over-month to 3.5%. Although the jobs data was ostensibly positive, this labor report along with recent inflation data disappointed many investors, who have been eagerly seeking any nascent signs that the U.S. Federal Reserve (Fed) may be nearing the end of its rate hike campaign. The Fed has now raised the Fed funds rate 75 basis points (bps) in three straight meetings, and appears poised for another 75 bps rate hike in early November.

The U.S. midterm elections are slated for the second Tuesday of November, with the Republican Party favored to capture the House. Control of the Senate is still in play, however, with either a 50-50 split or a very narrow majority for the victorious party the most likely outcome. Inflation is obviously top of mind, putting many voters in a dour mood heading into what is typically a challenging election cycle for the sitting president's party, regardless of the state of the economy. A divided government and some measure of legislative gridlock may therefore be in store until after the 2024 elections, a scenario that is frequently viewed favorably by markets.

The Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate (-1.30%) posted yet another negative return in October, as Treasury rates pushed ever higher. Spread sector performance was also negative with the notable exception of high yield corporates, where the option-adjusted spread (OAS) tightened by -88 bps. Investment-grade OAS was nearly unchanged (-1 bps), while MBS, CMBS and ABS widened +4 bps, +28 bps and +42 bps, respectively. The U.S. Treasury curve shifted up and steepened modestly in the 5Y to 30Y segment: 2-year +20 bps (to 4.48%), 5-year +14 bps (to 4.23%), 10-year +22 bps (to 4.05%), and 30-year +39 bps (to 4.16%). (Source: Bloomberg)

Portfolio Strategy

The Fund continues to have significant exposure to both investment-grade (IG) and high yield (HY) corporates. Exposure to IG corporates increased modestly month-over-month, while the weight in HY corporates declined an almost equal amount following the sharp rally in October. IG corporate exposure continued to favor financials, while HY corporate exposure remained broad-based. The securitized sector weight increased month-over-month, but still represented a modest overall allocation within the Fund. The weight in agency mortgage-backed securities (MBS) in particular increased, for the second month in a row, as year-to-date underperformance has made this sector more attractive relative to U.S. Treasuries. The allocation to asset-backed securities (ABS) and commercial mortgage-backed securities (CMBS) both increased slightly versus the prior month-end. The Fund maintained several non-U.S. dollar currency positions, with no material changes month-over-month. The allocation to U.S. Treasuries and cash equivalents both declined in October, in line with the shift into agency MBS. Portfolio duration increased month-over-month and is now meaningfully above the neutral range for the Fund. Yield curve exposure continued to be somewhat bulleted in the 3-5 year segment, although exposure shifted moderately into the 7-10 year and 10-20 year segments compared to the prior month-end. The Fund continued to have minimal exposure to the 20+ year segment of the yield curve.

This describes a Sub-fund of Raymond James Funds, a Luxembourg fonds d'investissement (open-ended investment company) established as a société d'investissement à capital variable (investment company with variable capital) formed as a société anonyme (public limited liability company) in accordance with the Luxembourg law of 17 December 2010 concerning undertakings for collective investment. The Fund is subject, in particular, to the provisions of Part I of the Law of 2010, which relate specifically to undertakings for collective investment as defined by the European Directive of 13 July 2009 (2009/65/CE).

Gay-Lussac Gestion is the management company of this SICAV and Scout Investments is the investment manager of the Fund. Gay-Lussac Gestion is a management company established in France and approved by the Autorité des Marchés Financiers (AMF) under number GP 95-001.

Scout Investments does not guarantee any minimum level of investment performance or the success of any investment strategy. It should not be assumed that future results of any product will be profitable or similar to past performance. As with any investment, there is a potential for profit as well as the possibility of loss.

Risk Considerations: The Fund employs an unconstrained investment approach, which creates considerable exposure to certain types of securities that present significant volatility in the Fund's performance, particularly over short periods of time. The return of principal in a fixed income fund is not guaranteed. Fixed income funds have the same interest rate, inflation, issuer, maturity and credit risks that are associated with underlying fixed income securities owned by the Fund. Foreign investments present additional risks due to currency fluctuations, economic and political factors, government regulations, differences in accounting standards and other factors. Mortgage- and Asset-Backed Securities are subject to prepayment risk and the risk of default on the underlying mortgages or other assets. High yield securities involve greater risk than investment grade securities and tend to be more sensitive to economic conditions and credit risk. Investments in emerging markets involve even greater risks. Credit Default Swaps and related instruments such as credit default swap index products, may involve greater risks than if the Fund invested in the referenced obligation directly. Credit Default Swaps are subject to risks such as market risk, liquidity risk, interest rate risk, credit risk and management risk. Derivatives such as options, futures contracts, currency forwards or swap agreements may involve greater risks than if the Fund invested in the referenced obligation directly. Derivatives are subject to risks such as market risk, liquidity risk, interest rate risk, credit risk and management risk. Derivative investments could lose more than the principal amount invested. The Fund may use derivatives for hedging purposes or as part of its investment strategy. The use of leverage, derivatives and short sales could accelerate losses to the Fund. These losses could exceed the amount originally invested.
